MANSA, JULY 25

The Talwandi Sabo Power Limited (TSPL) today conducted a green drive on its premises to commemorate the reaching of a major milestone — the erection of its boiler ceiling girder.

The organisation has decided to plant more than one million trees on 700 acres in an effort to become one of the most environment-friendly corporate houses in Punjab.

The green drive was inaugurated by Mansa Deputy Commissioner Ravinder Singh in the presence of Vedanta Group's director (Projects) M Siddiqi.

Sarpanch Ajit Singh from Banawala, Naranjan Singh from Perron, Malkit Singh from Raipur and Harmel Singh from Bheniwal also planted trees along with Wang Hang, the project head of a Chinese company SEPCO, who is executing the project for the Vedanta Group.

The Mansa DC thanked the TSPL team members as well as the local Panchayat for its cordial support to complete the first milestone before schedule.

The DC said the plantation drive would change the face of this place, which was a barren land some years back.

Speaking on the occasion, M Siddiqi said environment protection had always remained a top priority for the Vedanta Group as it believed that sustainable development was integral to its business practices.
